This intensive two-day Poverty Institute provides a grounded understanding of poverty and what you can do to more successfully assist people in moving out – and staying out – of poverty.

Poverty Institute Participants will:

- Learn to communicate more effectively with those living in poverty (e.g., bridging print and oral cultures).
- Use role play, activities, modeling and dialogue to understand and practice the core concepts.
- Come away with concrete strategies and materials that you can use right away to make a difference.

The Beegle Poverty Institute is designed for professionals from the fields of justice, education, health, social service, faith-based and community organization members.

Coaching Institute Participants will:

- Get trained to conduct Poverty Competency Assessments and assist their organizations in developing and implementing customized action plans with measurable results.
- Receive a variety of tools and materials, including the Action Approach Training Kit (valued at $449).

NOTE: Coaching Institute participants must have completed at least a two-day Poverty Institute.
